MISAPPROPRIATIONS OF REPUBLICANS.

STARTLING FIGURES FROM THE STATE'S OFFICIAL RECORDS.

The People's Money Used Unlawfully to Maintain Taylor's Reign of Terror at Frankfort.

HISTORY OF REPUBLICAN MISRULE.

Funds misappropriated by Republican officials shown by warrants and checks in Auditor's office.

January 31, 1900.	$10,444.13
February 2, 1900.	2,599.97
February 3, 1900.	702.25
February 7, 1900.	12,022.83
February 7, 1900.	2,022.83
February 7, 1900.	83.25
Total.	$30,097.64

In November, December and January $30,097.64 was spent in preparing the militia.

In the eight days, from January 31 to February 7, Citizen Taylor, Collier, Auditor Sweeney and Treasurer Day drew without authority of law the starting sum of $29,083.13 to maintain Taylor's soldiers.

FRANKFORT, KY., Aug. 18. - Investigations into the conduct of the different offices during the Taylor administration are bringing to light daily the most startling disclosures of misappropriation of funds and reckless and unlawful expenditures of the people's money, particularly used to maintain Taylor's soldiers with a view to thwarting the will of the people and clogging the enforcement of civil law. When the present Democratic officials were installed into office they expected to find affairs much confused, mismanaged and almost, but not expected to find that the State's money had been used so lavishly without warrant of law in the interest of a private citizen who as a Republican wanted to hold the office of Governor in spite of the decisions against him by the legally constituted authorities. Revelations in the offices of the Auditor and Treasurer show an illegal use of funds aggregating $30,000. None of the warrants issued to D. R. Collier for money is accompanied by certificate bearing the signature of the Governor, although the law specifically requires that this be done. About $30,000 was paid over to D. R. Collier by the Republican officials after Taylor had been retired to private life. None of this money was paid him under any section of the statute which provided for the payment of money for military purposes; all was given out after William Goebel had been declared to be Governor and sworn in as such, and some of the money was refunded by Collier after he had been removed from office by Gov. Beckham. In many cases none of the Republican officials left any record to show what was done with the money thus turned over to Collier. Many of the Taylor military pay-rolls are unrecipited. The money was paid to Collier, also, in open violation of the law, which does not allow him to handle the people's money, inasmuch as he is not a bonded officer of the State.

All of this will come as a startling revelation inasmuch as it was said that Taylor's soldiers were being paid by private subscription and not with the State's money. Such an item as $150 for whisky, and the best whisky that is one of those for which the State's money went. Another bill for fruit is included in the list of expenditures. And, although Taylor saw the treasury being drained to promote his own desperate private ambition, he is said by Republican officials to have raved and swore at them when at last, warned by their bondsmen, they refused to pay any more money to a private citizen for his personal military guard. Records in the Adjutant General's office also show that many of the men who drew money from the State as members of military companies never enlisted, as required by law, but were simply recruited and armed - a private mob at public expense - to satisfy the demand of Taylor. No company is more flagrant in this breach of the law than the one from Morgantown, Taylor's home. Thousands of dollars were expended, not only for enlisted men, but for money, though regularly enlisted, had been dispersed by Gov. Goebel in his first proclamation and who were therefore under arms contrary to law.

In view of these disclosures, Gov. Beckham will instruct Attorney General Breckinridge to bring suit at once against ex-Auditor Sweeney and ex-Treasurer Day and their sureties for the recovery of all this misappropriated money.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease the worst form of slavery, George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters she is wonderfully improved and is able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. It is a god-send to weak, sickly, run-down people. Cures guaranteed. Only 50c. Sold by J. H. Williams, druggist.
